

2010 Native Health Research Conference Travel Scholarships

Dear Student:

The Native Research Network (NRN) is pleased to announce its 22nd Annual Conference "Translating Research into Policy and Practice in Native Health." The conference will be held at the Rushmore Holiday Inn in Rapid City, SD, July 27-30, 2010. The conference objectives can be found on our website: <http://www.nativeresearchnetwork.org>.

We will award a limited number of Student Mentoring and Travel Scholarships to currently enrolled Native students. The scholarship will cover the cost of transportation, registration, three nights lodging, and meals. Interested individuals should complete the application and return it no later than April 23, 2010 to mpardilla@aol.com. Due to the limited number of scholarships available, we will award those individuals meeting the NRN's scholarship criteria and deadline (see attached application form).

Students who are selected will be required to meet with a Mentor to review his/her goals/objectives during the course of the conference and at least have one more communication within the next year. The NRN feels that it is very important to support Native students so that they have a planned completion date for their respective health profession education program.

This conference will be an excellent learning experience for students. For more information, please refer to the NRN website:

Thank you for your interest in this program.

Sincerely,

Marla Pardilla, MPH, MSW
